If the adherents of standard time seek to have the railroads run on both standard and daylight saving time they disregard the rery thing which they have been clamoring for—the avoidance of confusion and meanvenience. They maintain that there should be home rule for railroad operation in this state rather, than one time on the entire system, but they are not cogst

There can be no just scaling for any supposed methods in the aministration of such help. Regardless of what it has been in the past the president by his words gives the cripples soldiers to understand that their can will get deserved attention in the future. Thus does President Harding take the right position when he gives them to understand that the government will, said, by them as faithfully as they store by the country. In their case neglect can never be tolerated.

THE SEVEN YEAR CLAUSE.

Some time has passed since there was an attack upon the validity of the eighteenth amendment, but with the claim to the effect that the amendment to the resolution whareby it was made obligatory to radify the amendment within seven years made it unconstitutional the unconstitutionality of the dry question promises to be kept alive some time longer, or until a decision from the United States supreme court is received.

Ordinarily if might be expected that such a point would be raised by those who favored probabilion and believed that the rights of those seeking it had been curtailed by the restriction. Such, however, doesn't appear to be the case for the ratification in much less time than the restriction applied to made that unnecessary.

that those back of it clies to the hope that they can have the amendment thrown out. It is a California case and the United States district court in that which is due to visit us this year, and which the united States district court in that which was here on its last call about state has decided against it. In fact it 1893 years ago. case is to be carried to the highest court doesn't appear that the restriction had any influence whatever upon the action of the states in ratifying. KEEPING TAB ON MAMIE

The Levalists of the Revolution were of two kinds, active and passive, and these were again divided into classes, the mercenary and the honest. When the Declaration of Independence was promulgated many influential men, who were fully alive to the importance of demanding from Great Britain a redress of existing and increasing grievances, were not prepared to renounce all allegiance and they adhered to the interests of the crown. These fermed a large class in every rank is society, and, being actuated by conscientious motives, commanded our thorough respect.
